1969 FATHOM

Gainesville Junior College
Gainesville, Georgia

The Fathom staff would like to acknowledge an individual on campus who we feel has made a special and significant contribution of his time and services to the student body, the yearbook staff, and Gainesville Junior College in general.

This edition of the Fathom is dedicated to him, Mr. Jack Jones.

Registration always proves to be one of the most hectic days in the quarter. Closed or unavailable courses only add to the problem of getting schedules arranged and forms completed.

Rat Week permitted the sophomores to have a week of superiority over first quarter freshmen.

Rats were required to purchase and wear a "rat hat" and obey any of the sophomore's minor requests.

In addition, rats were sent to rat court where they had an opportunity to perform for the student body.

Rat Week was climaxed with a dance sponsored by LACOSA, and music was provided by The Movers.

There is one place on campus especially familiar to any student at Gainesville Junior College—the Student Center. It serves as a cafeteria, contains an excellent campus bookstore, and provides the student with a place to relax and enjoy himself.

Although our library has not grown to its desired size, it still provides the students with a valuable range of material from which to research, and it provides a quiet place to study or read.

The laboratory facilities at the college are invaluable to the student involved in any of the sciences or language programs.

The Biology lab is unique in that it is one of the first and most complete audio-tutorial labs in Georgia.

Gainesville College has an excellent staff of faculty members who help students seek answers to challenging questions and stimulate their minds to search for instead of merely accepting knowledge.

More important than any lab or classroom is the individual who inhabits these rooms. The student determines the caliber of the school itself.

Gainesville Junior College is fortunate to have an active, intelligent, and productive student body.

Athletics is another aspect of college life. There is physical education, intramural competition, and inter-collegiate sports available at Gainesville Junior College.

We are extremely proud of our physical education facilities and staff. G.J.C. has two completely equipped gymnasiums, outdoor tennis and baseball areas, and an indoor Olympic sized swimming pool. Under the direction of Coaches Ball, Whiteside, Huckabee, and Shelton, a student can easily and quickly excel in the sport or activity that he prefers.

The facilities, though mainly for the benefit of our students, are at scheduled times available to members of the surrounding communities through the department of Continuing Education.

DeKalb College's Gymnastic team in a basketball half-time exhibition.

Aside from being an institution for learning, Gainesville Junior College is a place of beauty and is increasing in size each quarter.

The administration, staff, and student body have put a great deal of extra time into the progression of the college, and they reflect on the college as it has grown over the past three years.

1968- 69 Years of Tragedy and Triumph

There have been many significant events that have or will have a tremendous influence upon the present and the future.

The "New Left" has affected many of our larger colleges through protest and social revolution. The marriage of Jacqueline Kennedy and Aristotle Onassis . . . the Olympics held in Mexico City . . . the election of Richard Nixon to the office of President of the United States . . . Georgia's Governor, Mr. Lester Maddox . . . Will we reach the moon by April of 1969, as scheduled? The orbit of Frank Borman, James Lovell, and William Anders around the moon made its impact throughout the earth, and pulled us even closer to that desired day.

Frank Borman

James Lovell

William Anders

Two of the most startling events in 1968 were the assassinations of Robert Kennedy, who sought the democratic nomination for the presidency, and Dr. Martin Luther King, leader of the Southern Christian Leadership Council.

Resulting from these incidents will be methods for more effective gun control.
